How We Use and How You Can Limit Cookies and Interest-Based Advertising

Data Analytics

We use cookies and similar technologies on our Online Services to obtain information about how our Online Services are used and to analyze visiting patterns. These technologies support some of the features of our Online Services, including maintaining your Lennar Mortgage account login information between visits. The use of cookies and similar technologies for mobile applications also allows us to recognize your IP address or mobile application identifier, measure activity and usage such as the time and length of your visit, the pages you look at, the site you visited just before coming to ours, and the name of your Internet service provider.

We obtain usage and activity data from Lennar Mortgage Affiliates that operate separate websites and from third parties that host or manage certain features of our Online Services. Each of these companies has its own policies on the collection and use of data collected using cookies and other internet technologies.

We may engage third parties, such as Google Analytics, to collect activity and usage data. Lennar Mortgage does not disclose any directly identifying personal information to a third-party data analytics provider. However, the provider may monitor a user’s interactions with our Online Services and combine this data with data from other websites monitored by the same service provider and then use these findings for its own business and commercial purposes. The provider may have means of correlating data from our Online Services to an identifiable individual, in which case the processing of personal information will be the responsibility of the service provider.

To learn more about how Google collects, and processes data and the choices Google may offer to control these activities, you may visit: <http://www.google.com/intl/en/policies/privacy/partners/>.

You may also be able to limit data collection by using your browser or mobile device settings. Please note that electing to limit interest-based advertising will not stop all advertising from appearing in your browser or applications. It may make the ads you see less relevant to your interests. Additionally, please note that if you use a different browser or erase cookies from your browser, or use a different device, you may need to renew your setting selections.

Do Not Track Signals

Certain web browsers allow you to set preferences that include “Do not track” signals to limit how your activity is tracked across online services. Like most websites, our Online Services do not respond to “do not track” signals in your browser.
